

MONTANA REFINING COMPANY'S PLANT ON EVE OF COMPLETION

With all material and equipment on the ground and concrete and brick work complete, everything is in readiness now to put finishing touches on the Montana Refining company's plant just east of the city limits. The first unit of the plant will have capacity for handling 1,000 barrels of crude per day and will probably be in operation within a few weeks. Equipment now being installed will make it possible to complete additional units as these are needed up to capacity of 5,000 barrels per day within comparatively short time.

Fifteen of the company's new tank cars have already been delivered and Montana Refining Co.

Clipped By:

seabix1

Mon, Mar 23, 2020