TOURIST CAMPS SET FOR HORDE

Operators Say Season Will Be Best in Years.

A check made of Billings tourist camps Friday revealed that operators of the local resorts believe travel will be heavier in 1930 than in previous years.

May 1 will be the date when the city campgrounds located on north avenue north, will open the gates to the advance guard of the annual horde, J. W. Lawson, park superintendent, advised.

The city grounds—rated as one of the finest overgrown spots for tourists, along northwestern trails—have undergone renovation and extension during the last few weeks. At present workers are laying water mains because the water so that one tap may service over 100 cabins. This will greatly aid tourists' pleasure as water will be much easier than before.

The campground, well shaded and situated on the outskirts of the city with a wide view of the Yellowstone valley, has one of the new cottages called the new central building, housing facilities for tourists. The new building is a modern, two-story structure. At the same time, as many as the existing ones were located on the site.

Tourist's Arrival.

Mr. Lawson was all in expectation of private camps in stating his belief that tourists will be a large increase of travel through the city.

J. C. Cole, operator of the tourist camp, west of the city, stated that already he has had visitors from other camps, one party coming in March 1, he said, called from Texas. He has been here, also, to other from Chicago, Washington and California.
