

ROCKWOOD BROWN WORKERS PRAISED FOR SAFETY RECORD

Featured speaker at a recent banquet for the personnel of Carter Oil Company's Rig No. 2, currently drilling the Rockwood Brown well, was J. M. Ivy, company safety director, with offices in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Mr. Ivy congratulated the rig personnel for their safety record in operating the rig for a year without a lost-time injury.

The rig, which began operating here at the beginning of this year, was previously working in Maysville, Oklahoma. The rig employe 21 men and a tool push er. C. L. Cooksey, division superintendent with offices in Denver their work, and their care in avoiding accidents.

Guy E. Keith, tool pusher, also praised the workers for their efficiency.

Forest Ranger Transferred to Wyoming

The appointment of Robert Hoag as ranger of Mountain View ranger district is announced by William D. Hurst, supervisor of Ashley National Forest.

Mr. Hoag has been associated with the U. S. Forest Service since his graduation from forestry school. His most recent as

Rockwood Brown Workers Praised for Safety

Clipped By:

seabix1

Wed, Mar 24, 2021