Elected

Six new members have been elected to the Rocky Mountain College Board of Trustees. They are: William Ballard, president of Balcron Oil; Rockwood Brown, a lawyer; Peggy Darkenwald, community and civic leader; Cynthia Foster, community and civic leader; Warren Jones, owner of Two Dot Livestock; and James Spring, a surveyor.

Robert Nance of Nance Petroleum has been elected chairman of the Rocky trustees. Other new officers are: Kenneth Hickel, vice chairman and treasurer; Karen Doolen, secretary; and Gale Lair, James Taylor and Wayne E. Hatton, vice chairmen.

Honored

Billings businessman Patrick Goggins has been named to the American Polled Hereford Association's Hall of Merit. He is one of four individuals honored by the APHA in the areas of education and research, youth activities, public affairs and communications. Goggins is owner and president of the Western Livestock Re-

Graphics, 404 S. Broadway, as a sales account executive. A former city zoning inspector, Jonckowski has attended Flathead Valley Community College and Eastern Montana College. She is also a bull rider with the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association.

Rene Mora Jr. of Billings has joined International Coating & Chemical as an area Poxo Coat dealer. He will distribute the industrial, waterproof epoxy coating material in the Billings area.
