

Edna Jeanette Alguire

Edna Jeanette Alguire, age 95, died Monday, June 21, 1999, at St. John's Lutheran Home in Billings. She was born May 14, 1904, in Forest River, N.D., the daughter of William J. and Sarah Atwood Coulter Woods. The family moved to Beach, N.D., when she was 2 years old. She had two brothers, Earl and Floyd, both of whom are deceased.

She went to high school in Beach and business college at Fargo. She married John Clinton Alguire on June 9, 1928. Her husband was an accountant, and in 1949 they moved to Billings. John died in 1953. Edna worked 14 years as secretary-bookkeeper for the Billings Petroleum Club at its original Northern Hotel location, retiring in 1974. She was a member of St. Luke's Episcopal Church.

Edna is survived by a daughter and a son, Marilyn and her husband, Rockwood Brown of Billings and John and his wife, Judy of Phoenix. Edna had seven grandchildren: Scott Brown and his wife, Debora, Holly Brown and Rebecca Brown of Billings; Julie Brown and Nancy Brown Martin and husband, Gary of San Diego, Calif., and Jon Alguire and Jeff Alguire of Phoenix. Great-grandchildren are Lauren and Cody Brown of Billings and Kyra Alguire of Billings.

Edna, or "Gramma" as she was more often called, loved her family. She enjoyed reading, gardening, and crossword puzzles. She also was an outstanding cook. Gramma was a very caring person and will be missed by her family and many friends.

Cremation has taken place and, in accordance with her wishes, private family services are planned. Memorials may be given to St. John's Lutheran Home or charity of choice. Michelotti, Sawyers & Nordquist has charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Alguire
