

Black Tie Blue Jeans benefit set for Nov. 3

Rocky Mountain College's 19th annual Black Tie Blue Jeans Scholarship Benefit will be Nov. 3 at the Billings Hotel & Convention Center.

In Cahoots will provide music for the event, which starts at 6 p.m. with registration, cocktails and a silent auction. At 7:30, dinner is served, and a live auction is held. Live music starts at 9.

Black tie and blue jeans are the attire for men, while evening wear is appropriate for women.

Tickets cost $125 per person. For information, call 657-1173.

Rockwood and Marilyn Brown, a couple with longtime civic and professional ties to Billings, have been selected to serve as honorary chairs for the benefit.

The couple will be awarded RMC's Lifetime Achievement Award.

Rockwood Brown was born and raised in Billings. He earned bachelor's and law degrees at the University of Montana and began practicing law in 1952. He retired full-time from the Brown Law Firm after 48 years. He is senior vice president at Wyo-Ben.

Brown served on the Board of Rocky Mountain College for 21 years and on the Billings Parks Board for 20 years. He also served as chairman of the Marilyn and Rockwood Brown are the honorary chairpersons for this year's Black Tie Blues Jeans scholarship benefit.

Montana Supreme Court Commission on practice.

He was instrumental in establishing the Keith Brown Scholarship Fund, which awards a scholarship to an RMC junior and senior, based on ethical behavior in business.

Brown met his wife, Marilyn, a native of Beach, N.D., at a picnic on the Rims. They have five children and three grandchildren.

(Photo) Black Tie and Blue Jeans Selects Honorary Chairs

Clipped By:

seabix1

Fri, Apr 17, 2020